

TRAIL of Johnson County 2017-18 Board of Directors

Charlie Anderson (Past Chair) is an active Iowa City volunteer currently working to help launch TRAIL and serve the Community Foundation of Johnson County. Charlie is a retired professor of Audiology, and also served as Director of Audiology in the Department of Otolaryngology and Director of the Wendell Johnson Speech and Hearing Clinic at the University of Iowa.

Michelle Buhman (Vice Chair), Program Specialist at the Iowa City/Johnson County Senior Center, has worked at The Center for nearly 20 years. She is a member of the Lifetime Education and Renewal Network Board, a sub-unit of the American Society on Aging, and holds a Bachelor of Business Administration degree from the University of Iowa.

Maggie Elliott (Treasurer) is the previous executive director of Iowa City Hospice and today is active in the community as a volunteer with the Johnson County Community Foundation, the Iowa City Parks & Recreation Commission, the Iowa Department of Aging, the Iowa City Library and 5224Good.

Nancy Hauserman is a retired professor of law and ethics from the Tippie College of Business at the University of Iowa. She is immediate past president of the University of Iowa Retirees Association and serves on the boards of Riverside Theatre and the Iowa Women's Foundation.

Diana Lundell is a director of Executive Communications in University of Iowa Health Care Marketing and Communications, and has more than 30 years of experience in health care public affairs, media relations, and internal and external communications. She is married to Coralville Mayor John Lundell, and they have two adult children, two large and unruly dogs, and two indifferent cats.

Linda McGuire is happily retired from a career in law, legal and higher education, and public interest and feminist activism. Released from a desk, computer screen, and program management, she enjoys being outside, using tools, and participating in other physical activities appropriate to her age and condition. She and her life partner Anne enjoy and manage 40 acres of timber and remnant prairie in southeast Iowa. She is a passionate and unrepentant foodie.

David Rust (Chair), who is happy to be engaged in developing TRAIL, also is a Volunteer Counselor with the Senior Health Insurance Information Program, and a singer with the Chamber Singers of Iowa City. His career included teaching, social work, mediation and ethics consultation. Travel, the outdoors, good food, cooking, reading, live music and theatre are long-time passions.

Susan Shullaw (Secretary) is an Iowa City-based communications consultant serving higher education, nonprofits, and small business; prior to launching her firm in 2010, she was Senior VP for Strategic Communications for the University of Iowa Foundation. She serves on the boards of the Iowa City Area Chamber of Commerce and the Iowa Natural Heritage Foundation.

Joy Smith became an active community volunteer after her career in public education, working on behalf of many arts and human services nonprofits; currently, she serves on the Iowa City Public Library Friends Foundation Board, the Iowa Women's Foundation Advisory Council, and is a classroom volunteer at Twain Elementary.
